Obituary for May 20th Tornado Memorial

It is at times like this, when we have been fortunate enough to have survived a major storm without injury or personal loss, that we reflect on not only how lucky we are, but also on the losses others have faced. The tragic storms and loss of life in our state on Monday, May 20th, touched all of us deeply. Children in schools, families at home and people stopping at the store ' no place is a guaranteed safe haven in the face of Nature at its greatest furry. Let us all take a moment and wish those who suffered these overwhelming losses our care, consideration and condolences.
